FOREWORD

What can we say about Kane High that has not been said so many times before? Even though new things have been added, Kane High is essentially the same as it has been for many years. Our yearbook itself is forty years old this year. Let's reminisce for a while.

A walk around the stage will turn up an almost uncountable number of names written on the back of the sets. As we see each one, we remember a certain play, a certain time when we wanted to let future classes see who had been there in years past. We read lists of old play casts, stage crews and play committees. Our names are among the many others inscribed there. Surprisingly enough, we remember when each one was written.

A look at the chem lab reveals more memories of our school days. Maybe we see a mark on a desk we made in lab, or maybe a mark on the ceiling where our hydrogen generator blew up. We think of physics lab and our struggle with weights and balances. A smile comes to our lips when we remember our saying something could not possibly be done and then seeing our instructor do it. How we felt like fools.

Amid all our homework and tests we find a place for the activities. As we see the Hi-Life office and the Hurri-Kane office, we remember our struggles to write in words which produce the desired effect and put on paper that which we are thinking. Sometimes it worked and sometimes it didn't.

The halls themselves hold memories which are now as much a part of us as anything is. When we walked alone, after school was dismissed, through the silent halls, could we help but stop and think? We knew that we would not be here in this school a long time. For what is time but a fraction of eternity? While we were in Kane High, we were anxious to leave; but when finally we did leave, we looked with longing at the school where we spent some of the happiest years of our lives.

At faculty meetings our teachers consult each other about ideas of teaching and students' problems. This helps to make Kane High a better school.

FACULTY

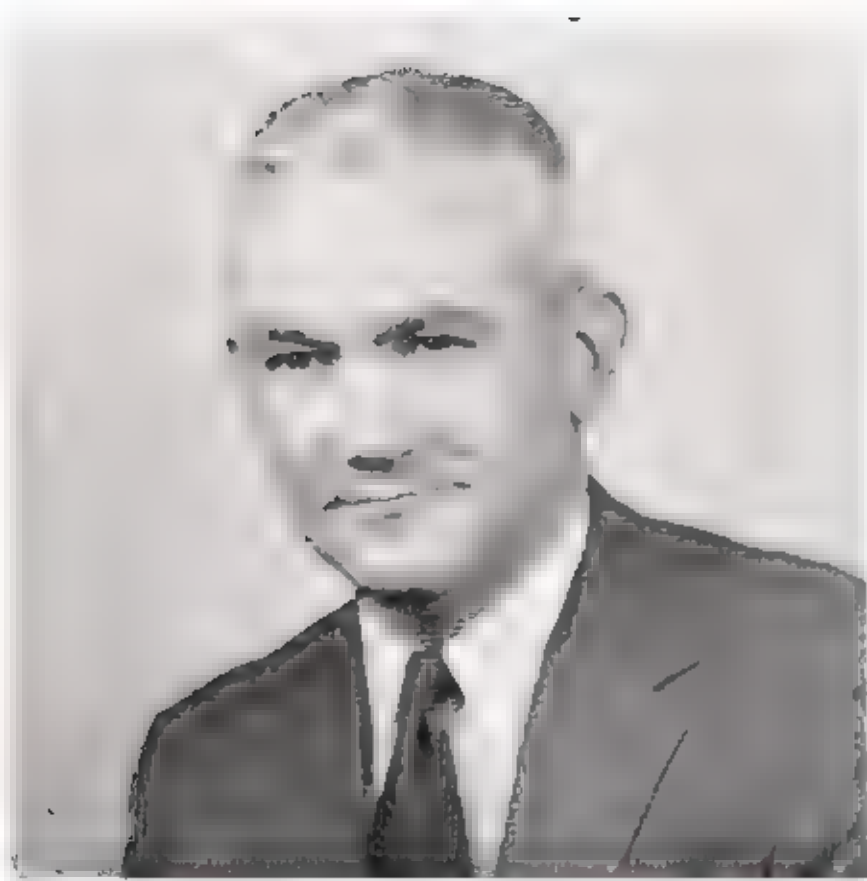

It is often said that teachers are the most misunderstood people in the world. When a student gets a bad grade, it is always the teacher's fault. What the pupil does not usually realize is that it is he who is at fault and not the teacher. A teacher can only try to teach; it is the pupil's job to learn and take advantage of what the teacher has learned and in turn must pass on to someone else.

Each teacher tries to understand his students as best he can. At the faculty meetings teachers discuss the problems of the students as a whole or individually and try to come up with a solution for their problems.

Regardless of what we, the students, may think, teachers are people too. We all like the teacher who will take a few minutes out from class to talk with us about something of common interest before we get down to the lesson for the day. It makes our work seem easier when we have something to take our minds off it for a moment. So—faculty, we salute you and thank you for a job well done!

The Board of Education runs our schools.

Our School Board is the group of public-spirited citizens who set the policy for the Kane Area Schools and provide the money to run them. With no remuneration and little recognition, these people make public schools function. We salute them.

CLASSES

Even though we're not always little angels, our primary objective in school is to receive an education. Perhaps we don't realize how fortunate we are that we have this great opportunity. All we have to do is compare our education with the educations of one hundred years ago or even with the educational systems of other countries today.

In our classes we have been filled with mixed emotions. We have had our struggles and hardships, our successes and our failures. But there are always the unforgettable moments in our classes which we all enjoy. There is always some little moment which we will cherish through the years.

Sometimes we consider classes something we just have to endure. However, we get out of education only what we put into it. If we want to learn, then we acquire the most valuable thing a person can obtain during his life: knowledge. And most of all, we try to learn one lesson—there is no such word as “can’t.”

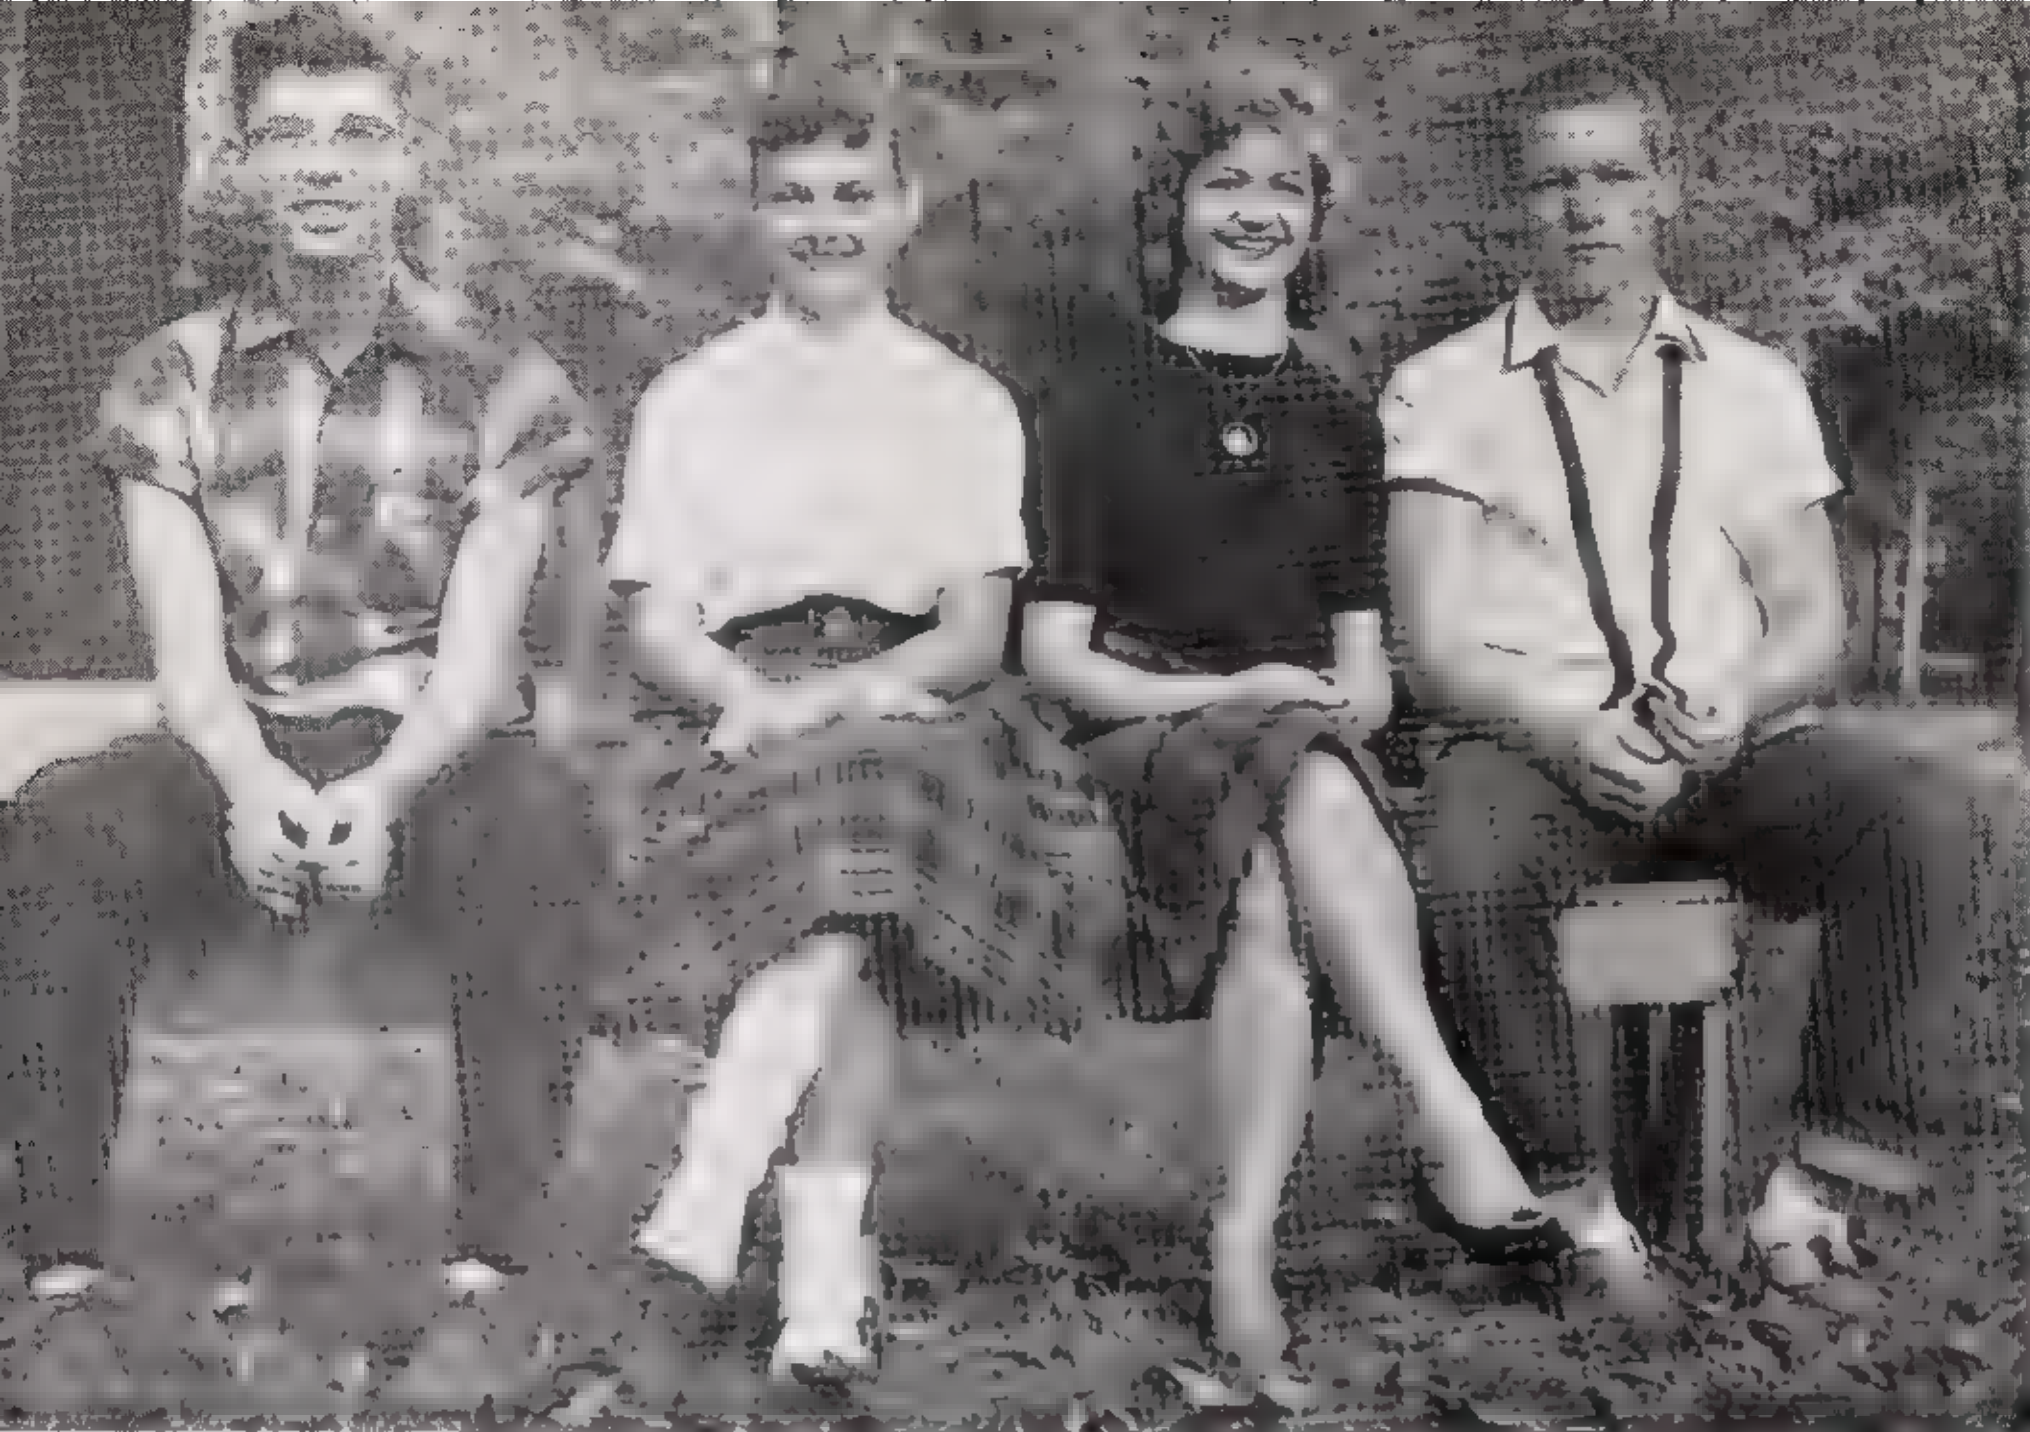

What makes a good secretary?

As you can see, all is not work in K. H. S. Students here give a display of aeronautics for the benefit of the camera. Even Mr. Bryant decides to help out. Oh, to be young again.

Senior

The class of 1960 held its twenty-fifth annual reunion at Crater Inn on the moon, United States Territory. The classmates flew there by way of Missile Space Lines, except for Gary Meckley, who came via pole vault. Since Gary learned the art of pole vaulting, he hasn't considered any other means of transportation. Our ship was piloted by John Carlson with Nancy Schlopy and Sandy Sprester as stewardesses. John and Susie Kibbie acted as our host and hostess for the occasions. George and Danette Sarvey and Dave and Marilyn Blackmore acted as our co-hosts. George still breaks his glasses, but now he has Danette to fix them for him. Janet Swanson and Sandy Thorsten, famous New York fashion designers, were there wearing their latest creations, and as a present to the class of 1960, they designed a special outfit for everyone there.

Frank Reigel, Don Williamson, and Bud Harris, star professional basketball players, had a very interesting discussion with their managers Bill Hutchins and Larry Ashbaugh. Winston Neal of the Harlem Globe Trotters also accompanied the boys. Winston was recently picked as All-American basketball player of the year by Sports Illustrated.

Cary Harriger, who was formerly a criminal lawyer, is now our newly elected President of the United States of America (on Earth). He and his secretary, John Gatewood, didn't waste any time on the trip, as they supplemented their duties by discussing the lumber problem on Earth with Jack Ryding, Mike Johnston, and Ken Fredell, forest rangers of high standing. The President's personal physician Charles Pierce and his medical secretary Elaine Erickson also accompanied the President on the trip. We heard that Elaine has the entire air force baby sitting for her while she is away. Also with President Harriger came his own private nurse, Carol Eshbaugh. Carol just finished studying nursing in Europe and now accompanies the President wherever he goes.

In the "Dear Abby" column this week, Linda Baker announced that a couple of her old school chums had been doing pretty well for themselves. Barb Shaw has recently been chosen Miss Universe and received as her prize a free trip on the first rocket ship to Mars, which will be leaving next week. Roger Imbrogno, who still "hates women," has been voted Mr. America.

Carl Homan has mended his ways and has become the first district attorney on the moon.

He is constantly opposing the famous defense lawyer, Jack Crowley—now that Carl has finally won an argument with Robbie. Tom Brinkley and Phil Carlson are still feeling the effects of the Senior Class Play of 1959, with Tom digging the Panama Canal and Phil still feeling the effects of the elderberry wine.

Bill and Linda Leone were lucky enough to get Ed Bauer to baby sit for them so they could come to the reunion. They told Ed that he could bring a friend so he wouldn't get lonesome, so Ed brought his cat, which he named "Baaaby."

Nancy Bizzak and Nita Clawges have opened a soda fountain on the Moon. Their specialty, which they call the "Earthshine Flip," has become famous all over the Universe. This is similar to the good old-fashioned banana split on Earth.

Judy and Joyce Lias have just hired two new beauticians, Karen Shaffer and Ann Anderson for their Hollywood beauty salon. Their first customer was Mary Vito, who had her long hair cut. Also in Hollywood news is Tom Brown, who has taken over Walt Disney's place as world famous cartoonist. You've probably seen his latest movie "Little Red Rocket Ship." In the music world we have Alex Connelly and Rose Marie Ferraro singing in the MET. Also, Alex is kept busy giving oratorical lessons to the head men of the world. The Anderson Trio, Bill, Dick, and Larry, accompanied by Sukey Snapp, are the latest Hollywood recording stars. Carol Ralston has won fame as the first girl soloist with the Marine Band. We all remember her musical accomplishments in high school.

On the way up from Earth, our rocket ship was stopped by Bill Cook, space cop, for speeding. We were going 800 miles per hour in a 700 mile per hour speed zone. If Bill hadn't happened to glance at his speedometer when he passed us, he might not have noticed.

Carol Landfair, with the help of Vic Barnhart as advertising manager, is now editor of Glamour.

John Peterson is carrying on the Peterson name in his father's business, with much needed assistance from Jim Nelson and Bob Myers.

Judy Johnson has finally proved Einstein's theory a fake, and is now trying to prove it to Monty, who doesn't believe her. Monty is still mad because she took all his paper in trig and solid classes when she was a senior.

Prophecy

Frank McGinty has now become a pharmacist and has a chain of drug stores all across the United States. Now he is thinking of putting one, or maybe a dozen stores, on the moon.

Mary Jean Henle has finally achieved her dream of marrying a six-foot five doctor, and she now has three little basketball players running around the house.

Jackie and Karen Beatty were the first T.V. repair women to achieve fame. Lois Bilicic is still trying to figure out how she got so small in the 1960 Hurri-Kane, and why the picture didn't come out right. But, come to think of it, those physics books were pretty big.

Art Prindle has returned as principal of old Kane High with Judi Rose as his secretary. Marilyn Boddorf is teaching Latin at Kane High now, and Donna Saulsgiver has taken over Mrs. T's old job. Sandy Smith has Miss Hilty's job as Hurri-Kane adviser and still hasn't been able to find an aspirin that will cure all of the Hurri-Kane headaches. They all report that the old school just isn't the same any more without Mr. Van Ormer and Miss Bollinger.

Sandi Garris, Joyce Grandinetti, and Mary Lou Harlan have just returned from honeymoon trips around the world. They were able to make the reunion just in time, which gave them a chance to show off their newest husbands.

From the last report Tom Beer, Ed Emer, Tom Dolan, Don Lundeen, Ted Nelson and Joe Streit are still trying to figure out a way to graduate without doing any studying.

Dick Uplinger is still commuting to Johnsonburg and Gene Carlson is putting his good memory to use by remembering girls' phone numbers—especially Gayle Rathbun's.

The most shocking news that we heard was that Larry Swanson had his red hair insured with Lloyd's of London which is still as famous as ever and is still going strong. Chris Bucheit is playing the organ in St. Peter's Cathedral in Rome with Frank, her brother, pumping it for her.

Larry Conquer is sitting home trying to figure out a question that will stump Mr. Carson. He should have come and talked to Jo Ann Ennis; she used to think of some pretty good questions back in Chief's psychology class.

Dan Counts, Jerry Federko, Jack Stakely, Lloyd Irwin, Ed Anderson, Tom Okruch, and Joe Bouch are still getting over the effects of the senior class trip to Washington, D. C., but they felt well enough organized to come and see their old classmates again. Ronnie Peterson had to cancel his archaeological trip to Egypt, to hunt for pieces to add to his private museum, to attend the reunion. He thought maybe he could pick up some rare specimens on the moon. To add to the entertainment, Frank Muisiner brought his ham radio outfit so that we wouldn't miss any Earth news.

At last reports Marilyn Peterson is still riding around in that white convertible. Bob Reigel and Dick Ryan have finally emerged from their shells and become famous civic leaders. Bob is the burgess of Kane and we hear he really has the town hopping. Dick, the Justice of the Peace, reports that there are more marriages than ever in Pennsylvania. Shirley Peterson is happily married and is now on her honeymoon in Cuba.

The last we heard, Dave Saf is still hunting, but what for, we do not know. Maybe it is Ed Campbell. Ed hasn't been seen since he was washed out by the Kinzua Dam. Joe Sirianni has a pretty good jewel racket going for himself in New York. Carol Stockton came to the reunion by way of her faithful green convertible.

Sue Bradvbaugh is now an artist, doing portraits of Brenda Law's twins. Jane Wiggins is still posing for Lou, often modeling the latest in the line of space suits.

The Jewett gang has added another first to its list of rapidly growing accomplishments. It has established a colony on the moon. Its members are Ed Snapp, Keith Swanson, Tom Garell, Barb Forquer, Marv Lou Swanson, Linda Blair, Bonnie Howard and Joanna Burg.

Bonnie Hannah, Vondalee Hottel, Pat Geer, Carol Murthough, Sherry Ordiway, Donna Zampogna and Joan Carlson got leaves of absence from their secretarial jobs in the Empire State Building so that they could attend this reunion. After the good secretarial training they received at Kane High, they had no trouble whatever getting ahead in the business world.

Because of the shortage of nurses on Earth, Sharon Sorokes, Lynda Swanson, Linda Lias, Donna McCauley and Alverda Weaver were not able to attend the reunion.

When the reunion was over, we all went home, remembering our wonderful time. Linda Baker promised to let everyone know about it in the "Dear Abby" column.

ACTIVITIES

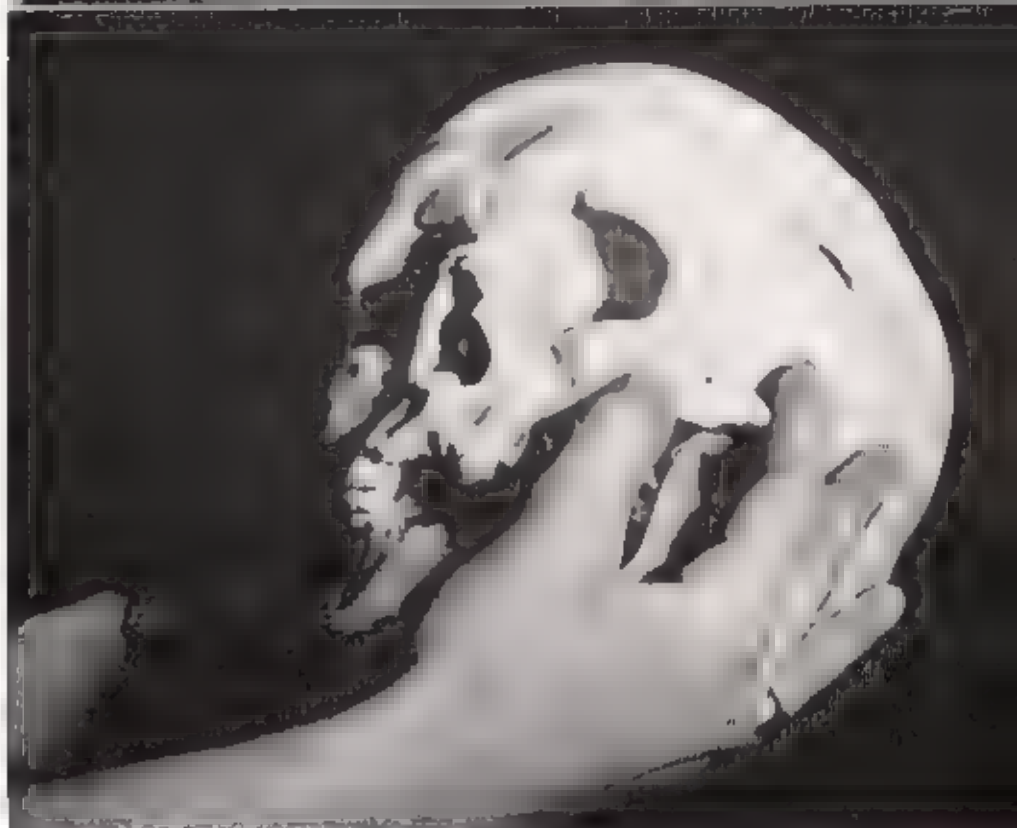

Among the busy schedules of teacher and students alike can be found the activities of the school. The clubs and singing groups are as much a part of the school as are the many subjects taught there. These extracurricular activities give us a chance to relax and to take our minds off the worries of our schoolwork.

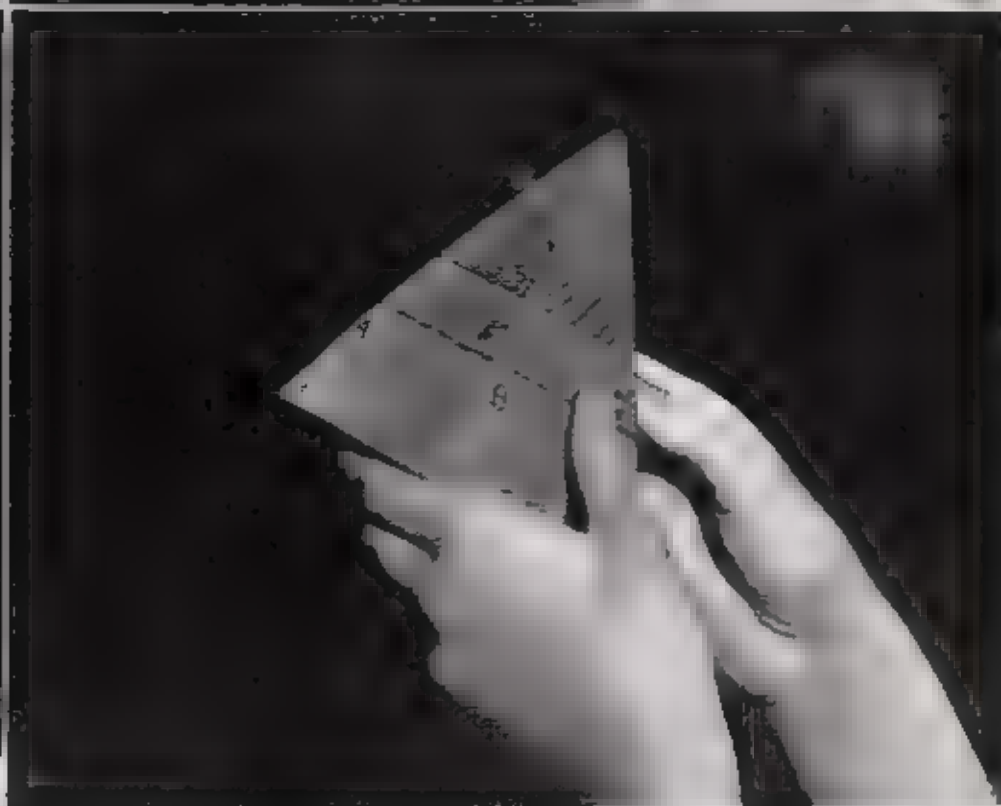

Think of yourself twenty years—or even ten years—from now, looking through an old yearbook, recalling all the good times you've had; you remember the choral concerts, the band concerts, the Phy-Chy field trip, or maybe the class play. Yes, you'll remember them all.

Usually we find that the work comes easier when we find a relief for a while. We make new friends, renew old friendships and make more acquaintances. We work for a goal when that goal is achieved, we are all there to enjoy the results.

Headlines are prepared for Hi-Life.

These are some of the many hands working in Kane High at extracurricular activities. Busy is the word—but it's fun too.

Hurri-Kane helpers hard at work

School life disappears

Do you realize all that is required to put out this yearbook? It takes a large staff of students who are willing to take time out from other activities to solicit sponsors, write articles, type pages and do the countless other things which are required for a yearbook.

The Hurri-Kane is now forty years old. Think of all the staff members who in years past have given their time and effort to make a better Hurri-Kane. Hurri-Kane is more than just a book. It is a treasury of memories for each and every student who has attended Kane High.

All year long the editors and adviser, as well as staff members, work to make a yearbook worthy of Kane High. Pictures must be taken, and articles must be written. Then the pictures must be cut to fill a page in a certain way. Articles must be typed and carefully checked and rechecked. A dummy copy of the yearbook must be compiled—very carefully, for from this will come the actual yearbook which is distributed in the spring. Sufficient funds must be available for the printing costs and the extra cost of hard covers and all the smaller added expenses.

Finally all is ready; the "dummy" copy has been sent long ago and the yearbooks are expected to arrive soon. Hurri-Kane members compile lists of the students who are to receive the yearbooks. Then the great day arrives. Hurri-Kane members distribute the books they have worked all year to produce. This is your Hurri-Kane.

but its memories are kept.

Hi-Life reports Senior High news

Hi-Life, Kane Senior High newspaper, published twice a week by the staff and members of Journalism class, is a two-page mimeographed paper.

Its purpose is to provide an accurate record of happenings in K.H.S., foster school spirit, and encourage as many people as possible to improve their writing skills.

Early in February, Hi-Life put out the first of two literary supplements which contained samples of creative writing, crowded out by lack of space in the regular news columns.

In May, several staff members attended the yearly conference of school newspapers at St. Bonaventure University. Earlier in the year, Hi-Life was awarded a first place rating in the annual contest for duplicated newspapers by the Pennsylvania School Press Association for the year 1959.

Student Council

Student Council is an organization which was established to encourage cooperation in the administration of Kane High; to develop the feeling of fellowship and harmony between the faculty and the students; to promote worthy activities; and to serve, in every way, the best interests of the school. The Student Council consists of a group of students, elected by the homerooms, to represent them. It has, as advisers, two members of the faculty, appointed by the administration.

There are four standing committees. The cafeteria committee helps in planning menus and in making suggestions concerning the conduct of the students in the cafeteria. The assembly committee, along with members of the faculty, plans the assemblies for the year. The social committee takes care of the dances and parties. The service committee helps with all activities connected with groups other than Student Council. Its biggest project for this year was the planning of the Student Exchange Program.

President Don Williamson conducts the meeting.

Usherettes

In the midst of the hurry and scurry of people coming into the auditorium to see a play or listen to a concert, you can see a group of girls dressed in flourishing gowns. These girls are known to Kane High as the Usherettes. They take charge of selling tickets, taking tickets at the door, showing the people to their seats, and passing out programs to the incoming audience. They are on hand whenever anyone in the audience wishes to have any information. This year, the Usherettes were under the capable direction of Mrs. Grace Johnston.

Library Assistants

"Mrs. Jones is busy. May I help you?" These words are heard often in the library spoken by the library assistants. These girls are trained by Mrs. Jones to work in the library while she has other work to do, such as balancing the complicated library budget. There are so many things to be done behind the scenes, there is not time for Mrs. Jones to take care of every student who comes into the library. These girls mainly work at the desk, checking books in and out. Library assistants are on hand to help students at all times of the day.

F. H. A.

Future Homemakers of America is made up of girls who are taking advanced home ec. These girls learn the many arts which are needed to be a successful homemaker. They are also on hand to serve at any banquets that might arise. Mrs. Ellen MacArthur is the group's adviser.

Rifle Club

Rifle Club, advised by William Miller, is composed of boys who have "graduated" from Small Arms and are still interested in shooting. This year the boys shot for three kinds of medals: rifleman, sharpshooter, and expert. To get a medal, the boys had to earn 250 points from a total of 400.

The National Honor Society is composed of juniors and seniors who are outstanding in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. In March an assembly was held at which new members were chosen. The new members were taken from ten per cent of the senior class and five percent of the junior class.

After the annual tapping there was a formal tea honoring the new members and their parents. There was also a dinner and a picnic in the spring when the new members were initiated. This year's National Honor Society was under the direction of Gregg Turner.

Phy-Chy

When the halls of Kane High seem to become a bit cloudy and a smell of "rotten eggs" seems to prevail, you can be sure Mr. Bryant and Phy-Chy are at it again. This group is composed of students who are taking physics or chemistry, and who make a field trip the year's highlight.

F. T. A.

The Future Teachers of America strives to promote an interest in the teaching profession. To instill this interest in its members, F.T.A. introduces them to the many skills required for teaching. This year tutoring other students was a valuable introduction to a teaching career. Miss Rosanna Eckman is the group's adviser.

“Just A Pinch of Cyanide”

In their declining years two old maids, Abby and Martha Brewster (Linda Baker and Elaine Erickson), decide to help old men from their misery of old age to the grave via their concoction of elderberry wine. Their nephew Teddy (Tom Brinkley), who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt, buries the twelve “yellow fever” victims in the Panama Canal which he is digging in the cellar. Jonathan (Tom Brown), another nephew and also a homicidal maniac, comes to the aunts seeking a hideout. His score of murders also stands at twelve; however, Mr. Witherspoon (Phil Carlson) obligingly puts the aunties one ahead of Jonathan.

“Daisy, Daisy, give me your answer, do.”

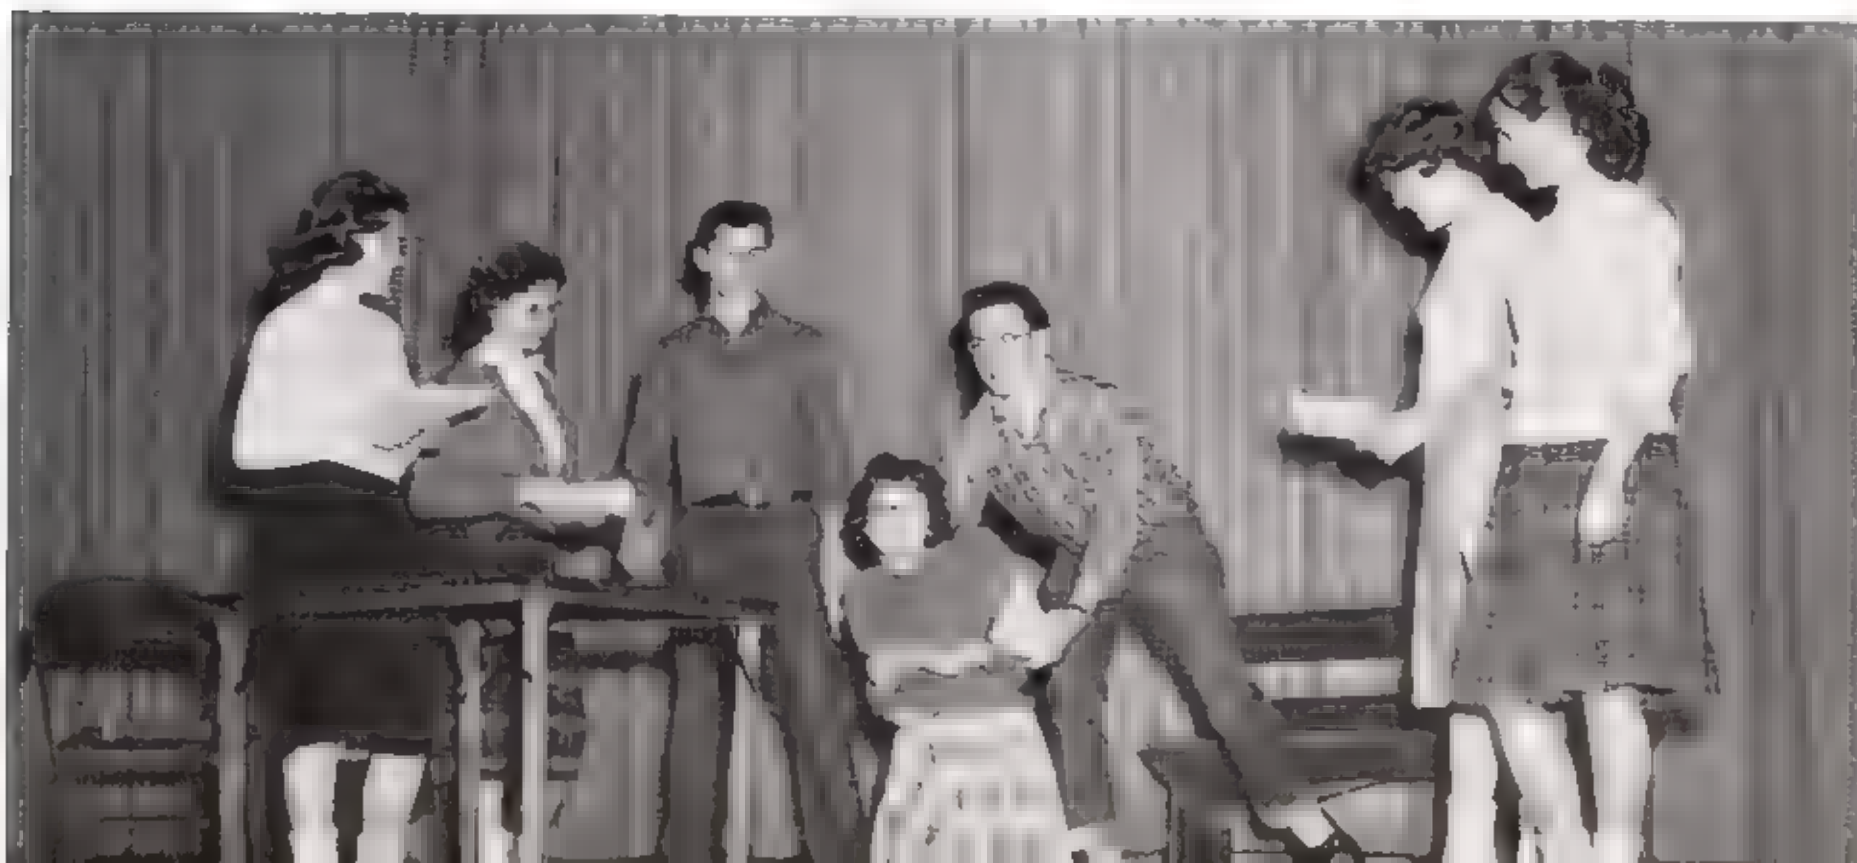

The Junior Class received an enthusiastic answer to its first dramatic effort as appreciative audiences enjoyed the March 17 and 18 performances of the Class Play, “Room for One More.”

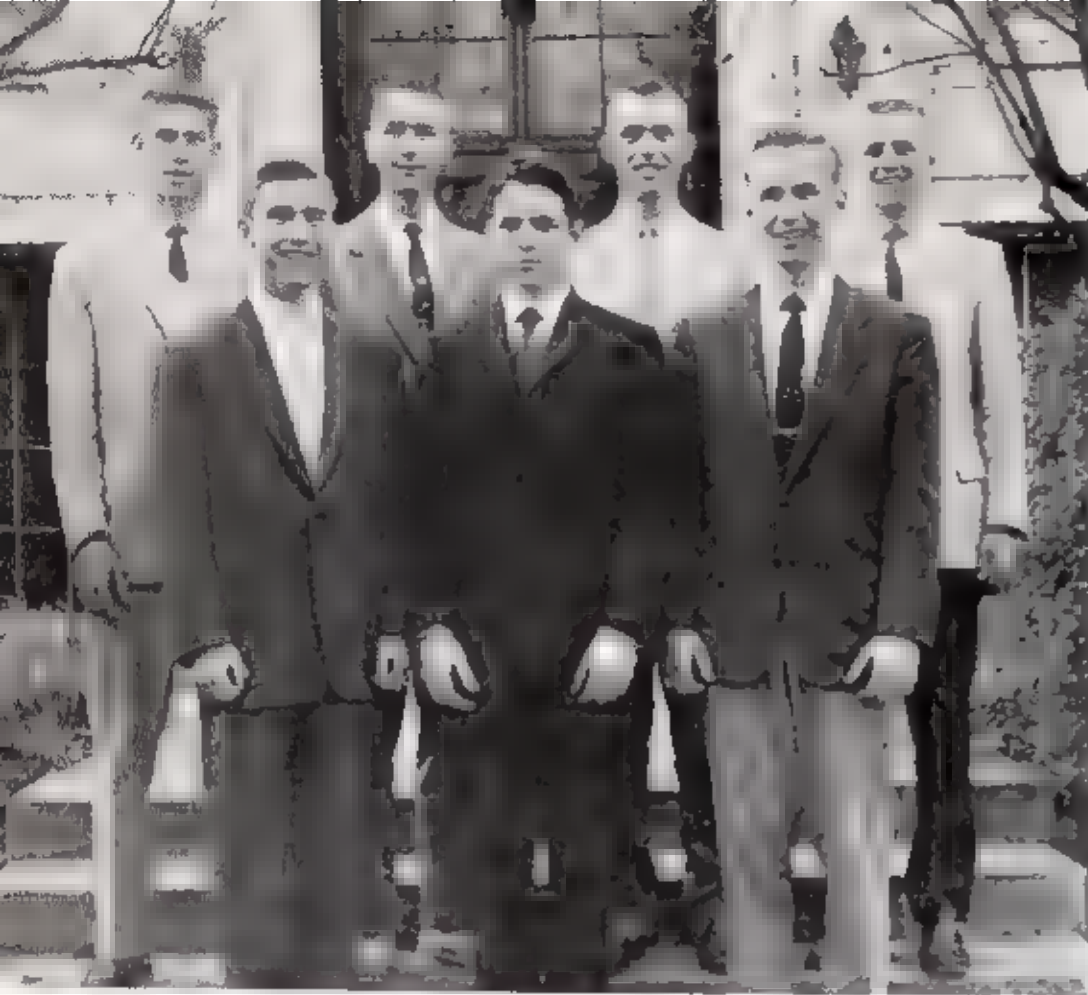

Everyone involved with the play will remember the story of the Roses and life in the “Pumpkin Shell,” with the pump, Murtle the turtle and artificial respiration, “Jesse James” and his braces, and of course, Daisy, bringing back many fond memories.

As “Room for One More” becomes part of the school’s history, the Class of 1961 can feel proud of “a job well done!”

Here, Teensie, let’s give it artificial respiration.

Senior Boys Ensemble

The time 7:45, Monday and Wednesday morning a group of seven sleepy-eyed boys walk slowly into the band room. They are followed shortly by their director, Mr. Loren Wright. Mr. Wright seats himself at the piano and the boys gather around. After a few warm-up numbers, each boy had dragged himself from his cocoon of drowsiness and is in the full swing of things.

This year marks the end of a four year period in which the boys have been together. During this period they have sung for numerous occasions around the Kane area. They are very popular with the children and adults alike. The songs they sing range from old western ballads and barber shop arrangements to the songs of the modern day.

Senior High Chorus

"Music makes the world go 'round"—and that this old adage is true is certainly proved by the melodious tones coming from the auditorium every Monday and Wednesday morning. The singing is done under the enthusiastic direction of Mr. Loren Wright.

The major function of this singing group is the presentation of two concerts, the first of which is the Christmas Carol Festival. Preparation for this was begun in early October, and the school soon became accustomed to the sounds of Christmas carols at such an early date. Rehearsals for the annual spring concert began almost immediately upon the termination of the Christmas concert.

District Chorus is a big event of the year for chorus members. Thirteen students were chosen to go to Emporium, where "District" was held. Instead of the usual state chorus, this year a regional chorus was held. Suzie Murphy and Alex Connelly were chosen to represent Kane.

Orchestra

The Kane High School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. S. Hartley Johnston was a small but very active group. One of the features of the year was their joint concert with Warren. They also performed at the senior class play, the school assemblies, and various other school activities.

Choraliers

"Early to rise"—this could well be the motto of the popular Choraliers as they met three times a week at 7:45 A.M., under the direction of Mr. Loren Wright, to practice diligently for their many appearances throughout the area. A highlight on this years agenda was their performance in the Kiwanis Minstrel Show.

Majorettes

Seven high-stepping majorettes, instead of the usual three, greeted the football faithful during half-time ceremonies at football games this year.

These seven girls spent many hours perfecting a different routine to use with each song the band played. From a seat in the bleachers, the flashing silver of brilliant sunlight on the shimmering baton could be seen as the girls performed a dance routine. The majorettes most popular dance this year was the Charleston which was done at Homecoming Game on October 10. Aiding the girls were seven boys dressed in the style of the roaring '20's.

Band

The Kane High School Band, whether in snappy red and white uniforms or practicing in the band room, was kept well-occupied this year. The first undertaking of the group was performing various programs during the half-time at football games.

Under the Leadership of the band officers: Carol Ralston, John Paup, and Jean Stimmel, the band members held a car wash and sold Kane High sweat shirts to earn money for expenses in going to out-of-town games.

District Band, held in Conansque during February, was attended by Carol Ralston, Elaine Erickson, John Paup, Jackie Cohn, Bill Anderson, and Brenda Law.

To conclude the year's activities, the band presented their annual Spring Concert on March 4 under the direction of Mr. Hartley Johnston. Included in the program were "In a Persian Market," "The King and I," and "March Processional."

ATHLETICS

No school is complete without competitive athletics. Who can forget that last minute touchdown, that one last basket, or the extra added effort that wins the track meet? These are the sights that meet the eyes of excited spectators. But what goes on behind the scenes? Months of hard training must be undertaken to produce the athlete who finally makes his appearance before an audience. The only pay received for the school and for himself is the self-satisfaction that comes from having done something great.

But there is still another (which is only one of many) part of a school's athletic program. It's something that must be learned but cannot be taught by the coach. It might be called good sportsmanship combined with the will to win. Whether a team wins or loses, it must have good sportsmanship. We must learn to be good losers as well as good winners. People watch our sportsmanship as well as our victories and defeats.

Head Coach King and Coach Rice give final instructions.

Football is a tension packed game filled with excitement and action—ask anyone who has ever played or seen a game. Sometimes the games seem as hard on the fans as on the participants themselves.

Wolves

It took slightly over two dozen rugged, hard-working, determined boys and the Wing-T formation to turn the 1959 Kane Wolves football team into a fight-in-the-ditch, never-say-die eleven that rocked and rolled through eight hotly contested grid battles. Offensively, a quintuplet of pony backs that averaged one hundred forty-eight pounds per man, namely Johnny Kibbie, Roy Brinkley, Denny VanDervoort, Jimmy Swanson and Chuck Novosel, roared through three of the five teams which they beat for over 900 yards. Defensively, the rock-ribbed line boasts such names as Imbrogno, Adamczyk, Smith, Johnston, Bauer, Hedlund and Ashbaugh turned back three teams without a single point; two others they grudgingly yielded one touchdown each. Although far from a polished high school grid power, the 1959 Kane Football team will long remain a tribute to their school, their coaches, and the game of football.

The game is rough and tough but so are the boys who play it.

Athletic Council

Kane High's Athletic Association once again helped to make the high school athletic program a success. The council assumes the responsibility of managing the athletic program, making Kane High's participation in interscholastic competition possible. Some of the many duties of members are ushering at basketball games, selling candy at the concession stand during football games, selling tickets and programs, and securing buses for out of town games. The council also purchases athletic equipment and arranges schedules.

Meeting once a month with Frank Reigel as president, Ed Snapp as vice-president, Pat Geer as secretary, and Paul Montgomery as treasurer and adviser, the association helped promote good sportsmanship throughout Kane High.

CHEERLEADERS

Sports events, parades, and assemblies found the cheerleaders out in front with pep and personality. With some squad member active in almost every extracurricular activity, they personify school spirit. Well trained in leadership and well groomed in appearance, they represented our school to the public.

Homecoming Queen

October 10, 1959 will be a day that Suzie Murphy will always remember, for this was the day she was crowned Homecoming Queen for the 1959 season. It was also a great day for the Wolves, as they walloped Port Allegany 14-0.

Just before the game Suzie and her attendants, Barb Shaw, Rose Marie Ferraro, Ann Anderson, Judi Rose, Jane Wiggins, Nancy Bizzak and Linda Lias, rode through town in convertibles preceded by the band. During the half-time ceremony the girls walked slowly onto the field through an aisle made by the cheerleaders and the band. At the center of the field, Suzie was met by Larry Ashbaugh and Jim Swanson, co-captains, who crowned her with a tiara of white carnations. Barb Stiteler carried the tiara to the queen. Suzie was also the recipient of a bouquet of long-stemmed red roses and a sceptor with a golden football at the top.

Varsity Basketball

The dawn of winter at Kane High means only one thing. It's roundball time. Yep, it's basketball season. This year found the Vern Johnson coached Wolves participating in 23 games including a tournament at State College, Pennsylvania. The Wolves finished the year with a respectable 10-13 record. Kane High's nemesis this year was the lack of height. Kane, however, playing aggressive ball finished with a 5-7 record in the league to cop fourth place.

The hot and cold Wolves started the season with two high scoring victories over Johnsonburg and Ridgway, but DuBois, this year's District IX League Champs, cooled the Wolves tail as they won 61-44.

The high spot of the season was a game with traditional rival Bradford, in which, Ron Haight's 32 points was the deciding factor. The Wolves knocked off the Owls by a score of 65-54.

The low spot of the season was when Curwensville, who hadn't won a game all year, just had to save it all for Kane and they dumped the Wolves 51-48.

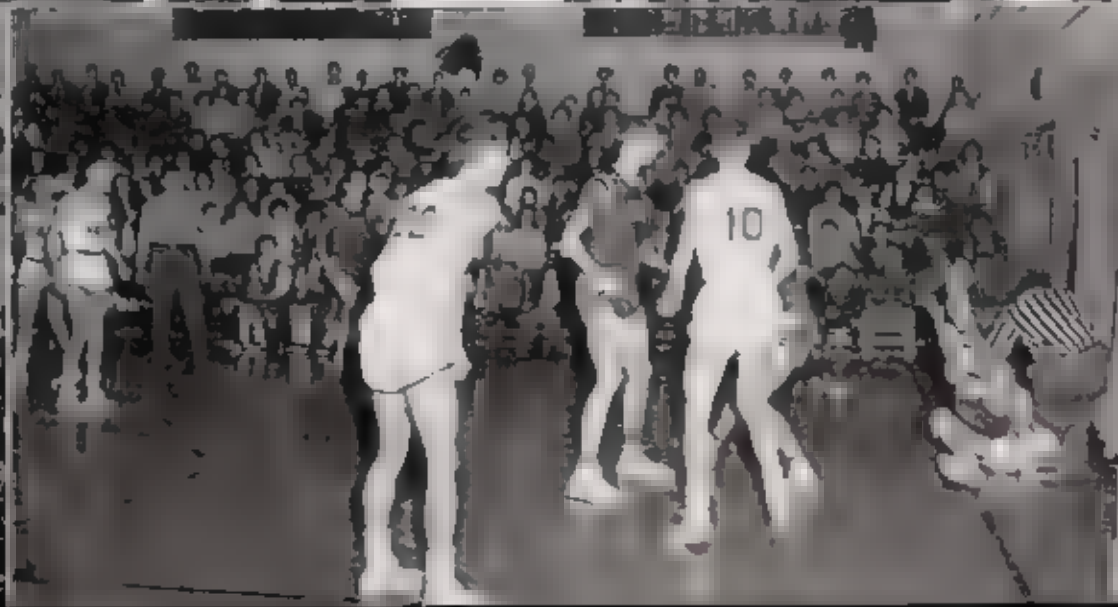

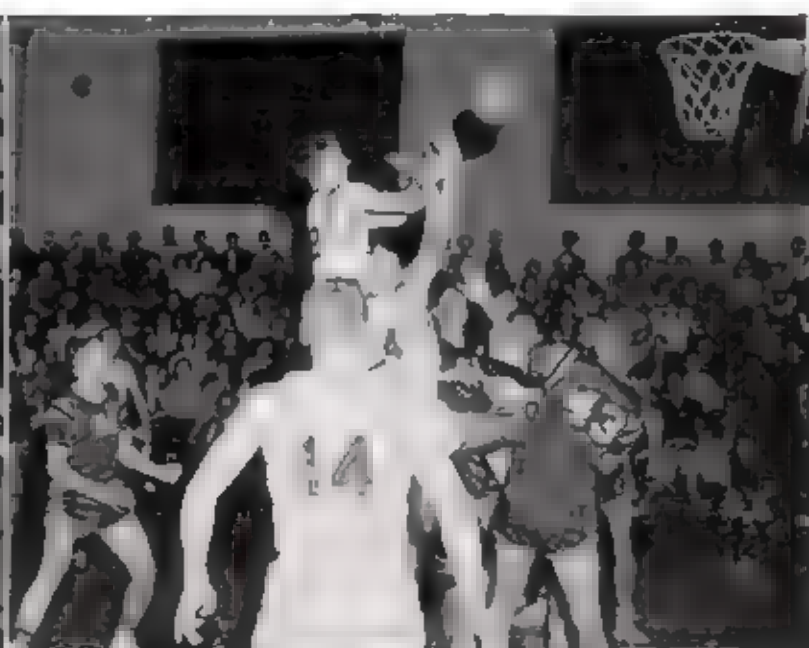

Mr. Johnson calmly watches the game.

Track

It was April 1959 and time again for the Kane High Thinclads to show their stuff. Yes, it was track season again and the Wolves, ably coached by Vern Johnson, participated in a six meet schedule which included the State Meet. Our only place in the State Meet was a third place finish by Gary Meckley in the pole vault.
